Global Positioning Satellite Surveillance System

Security Concepts supplies the latest GPS tracking and surveillance equipment to the police, military and other security related industries. Utilizing an integrated Multi-Tech SocketModem GPRS wireless modem, Security Concepts WorldTracker and WorldTracker Pro tracking systems can record and report a vehicle's every move.

The WorldTracker system allows you to easily keep track of a vehicle or other target in real-time. Built in data-log also records distance traveled, current and past street locations, speed and time spent at any position. A call-out option allows the tracker to call a cell phone and leave a message in the event of any vehicle movement, utilizing the integrated SocketModem GPRS wireless modem. Mobile tracking is also possible by using a laptop and a cell phone. The data is sent via the wireless modem and directly downloaded via an encrypted cellular connection. The data can also be sent through the wireless modem to a central real-time tracking server.

The WorldTracker Pro system is a completely self-contained unit, ideal for covert applications. It includes a rechargeable Lithium Ion battery. No tracker is easier or faster to install and it provides all of the tracking data and retrieval options as described above.

Real world applications utilizing the system include trucking and delivery systems, military and law enforcement, armored transport, covert investigations as well as private investigators. "Because Security Concepts provides mission-critical tracking and communication for our customers, we needed a wireless modem partner that we could rely on," Gilbert Walz, General Partner at Security Concepts. "We chose Multi-Tech for its reputation of providing quality equipment."
